Save 30-50% more by cutting out agencies

Powered by Tribepad Flex, Nightingale's online platform matches and connects healthcare professionals with healthcare service providers across the UK.

Nightingale also offers value-add services to help you bring total talent management in-house, removing the need for agencies.

Nightingale is an online platform that connects locum healthcare professionals with nationwide healthcare service providers who need cover – powered by Tribepad Flex.

Since they launched, Nightingale's had some absolutely fantastic feedback – and more importantly, results – from both healthcare businesses and healthcare professionals.

Like the £50,000 in annual savings they delivered for a group of eight GP practices who turned to Nightingale instead of using a staffing agency.

On average, Nightingale users save 30-50% compared to an agency - and spend 70% less time on recruitment.

Tribepad Flex has empowered Nightingale to become a go-to marketplace for nationwide healthcare providers and locum professionals, offering a totally transparent, trusted platform. With Nightingale, healthcare service providers now have ownership over a community of contractors.

“The Flex platform has been an absolute game changer in terms of onboarding candidates and clients quickly, particularly as it's mobile first.”

Why bring contractor management inhouse?

Many staffing agencies don't just make margins from their clients – when the market allows, they also squeeze their locums. With Nightingale, healthcare professionals earn 20% more – and healthcare businesses pay 20% less.

With the old model of contractor management, agencies are the only winners. With Nightingale, agencies are the only losers.

And it's all thanks to Tribepad Flex.
